East Jordan Aux. To Again Send Mother's Dav Hankies

It has been decided that the American Legion Unit 227 will again participate in the Hanky Program. These hankerchiefs are sent to the hospitals for the veterans to chose and send home to their mothers as a Mother's Day remberance. All hankies must be valued at at least 50c and up and must be accompanied with a stamped Mother's Day caard. Last year our unit sent 22 hankies and we hope to send as many or more again this year. The hankies must be in for mailing before March 15, so Rehab, Chairman, Florence Stucker has asked that they be ready by the next Aux. meeting March 11, they may also be turned in to Glenda Maxwell at the Quality Food Market. This is much appreciated by the hospitalized veterans and looked forward to. So let us make it possible for them to remember their mothers on her day with a personal gift from her boy to show his love, and that he remembers in spite of his troubles.

New Hope For Hearts

People are learning that all heart diseases can be handled best if diagnosed early. They are learning that heart disease in many instances may have little or no effect on the normal work or recreational activities of the patient, that some forms of heart disease are preventable, that most can be materially improved by proper treatment.

Underlying the whole educational program is a keynote of hope, which can be summed up in these words: With proper medical guidance, the average heart patient can live a long and useful life.

There are thirty Rheumatic Fever Diagnostic and Consultation Centers located in 15 well defined areas throughout the State where difficult cases can be accurately diagnosed and treatment recommended to the referring Doctor of Medicine. Thus, the Centers, established on a voluntary basis, place the most modern medical diagnostic service within the reach of every child or cardiac in Michigan, provide a consultation service to the general practitioner, and serve as a center for authentic information on the subject of Rheumatic Heart Disease. Our nearest center is in Petoskey.

The Rheumatic Fever Program, originated and developed by the Michigan State Medical Society, has been recognized throughout the United States as one of the most effective means yet devised for directing maximum force against this dread disease.

Another activity which is taking on constantly greater importance is the Cardiac Housewife Program of the Michigan Heart Association. Its purpose is to help the housewife who has heart condition and has to take things easier at home. Through demonstration-lecture courses, cardiac housewives are being shown how to lighten their work. By following scientifically determined principles of work-simplification it is possible for cardiac patients to continue with their daily housework and still keep within the limits of their hearts reserve. The program is being expanded as rapidly as possible.

Our beautiful daffidol plant that Jody gave us has two lovely blossoms. There are six more buds.

We are studying transportation in social science now. Don Johnson brought us some very interesting material on trains along with many pictures.

We had a visitor Diana Faust from Alma with us on Monday.

Fourth Grade — Mrs. Strehl

Friday afternoon we celebrated George Washington's birthday by reading stories telling riddles and reading poems about the Father of Our Country. Each one of us had a turn to tell something we had found about him.

During Arithmetic Class this morning we had two birds visit our feeder which is outside one of the windows in our room. The birds have been slow finding our feeder but now we have visitors every morning. We are very happy.

In Arithmetic, our progress chart is growing; some of us have four stars already. Each morning we have a speed test to see how well we can remember the fundamentals we have learned in Arithmetic. It is also helping us to build speed and accuracy in doing our daily work. We had three birthday's in the month of February. Those celebrating their birthdays were Sue Boswell, Larry Gee, and Betty Sloop.

We have just finished studying about our teeth and how important they are. Last week we saw an interesting movie on "Teeth and their care." Our next unit will be the study of foods and how to choose the right foods our body needs. Mrs. Robinson, our school nurse will help us.

Everyone is enjoying the wonderful skating weather we are having.

Fifth Grade — Mrs. Liskum

We are very much conservation minded in our room these days. In social science we are studying about conservation of water, soils, and forests.

Mr. William Grimm, farm planner for Charlevoix County, and Mr. Wilbur T. Bull, Education consultant from Roscommon, spent last Thursday forenoon in our room. We have a sandtable in which we have two farms laid out. The farms are as nearly identical as possible. On one farm which we have named "Gloomy Gully" no attempt to conserve natural resourses is in evidence. On the other farm "Happy Valley" we are using all the conservation ideas we know of. Mr. Grimm and Mr. Bull advised and assisted us in laying out our farms. We measured the "rainfall' used on each farm, and note results.

We heve studied types of soil, feeling them to note the coarse, sharpness of sand, the smooth stickiness of clay, and the texture of loam. We learn that clay and clay loam hold water, and that sand lets the water flow through.

In health we are learning to conserve human life. Now we are studying the "Basic Seven" in foods and their relationship to health. Margaret Zoulek is helping us in a unit on teeth.

We continue to struggle with long division, learn 16 new words and review 12 hard ones every week, work at compositions and reading as usual.

Sixth Grade — Mrs. Larsen

We went to the gym on Friday to receive instructions on how to use the dial telephone.

For art class we drew pictures about some country we have we studied. We had pictures on Holland, Norway, and British Isles.

For health we are making posters showing a healthy breakfast, a healthy lunch, and a healthy dinner.

Wanda Gilkerson has come back after visiting her sister in Detroit.

We saw movies on China and Dr. Carver last week. They were very good.

We enjoyed a fine assembly given by Mrs. Bowerman's second grade. It was on Mexico.

We had a patriotic program in our room on Friday. Rhea Zitka was the chairman.

Linda Bustard, Nicky Myers, Albert Hayes and Armand Drapeau acted out a play called The American Flag. We also sang patriotic songs and had poems read.

We will give our play Monday for Mrs. Mosher's room.

In social studies we are studying about France. We have learned that France has many industries as coal mining, iron and steel manufacturing, silk, rayon, cotton and wool, lace and perfume making. Poris is the capital city and famous fashion center of the world.

In English we have been writing plays from short stories. We divided into five groups, each group having a chairman. Our first play to be written and acted was Friendship by Nicky Myer's group. They did a very nice job as this group made the play up.

Department of Commerce Reports Personal Incomes at $251 Billion

ELIZABETH II—At first glance it would not seem important to the average American home towner that a young woman has assumed the duties of Queen of Great Britain and the British Commonwealth of Nations. But it is important and may have a great bearing on the future of many people in the cross-road towns of this country. It is around this young woman—Elizabeth II—the British people will rally in their last-chance fight against bankruptcy and breakup.

In the last 15 years the empire has been breaking up like a ship drifting in stormy seas. As recently as 1936 the empire was able to pay its way in international commerce. Today, however, Britain is the debtor of the world. And a complete break-down of British economy would be felt in the cross-roads of America.

QUEEN ELIZABETH II

Britain's present situation is almost entirely due to World War II. To win that struggle she sacrificed most of the money she had saved at the peak of her power when she directly ruled 450 million people. She spent many of her overseas investments to pay for guns and food.

In addition, the war altered the balance of power in the world, making the United States and Russia the dominent powers. Here again Britain becomes important to the United States because she is an ally by history, treaty and language.

So, the new Queen becomes a symbol of unity in the empire and an important figure in the balance of power between the United States and Russia. She is the figure around which the British people will rally. Whether she succeeds or fails is of vital importance to this country economically and politically.

CONTROLS—The fight is on. It began when President Truman requested an unenthusiastic congress to strengthen anti-inflation controls and extend the Defense Production Act for another two years—until the middle of 1954.

Again the President slashed out at the Capehart, Herlong, and Butler-Hope amendments which he unsuccessfully attempted to have appealed last session. He also swung a haymaker at congress generally by declaring "most people" already are having trouble paying present prices and congress should devote itself not to legislative formulas for raising prices, but instead to finding ways of moving prices downward.

The President's strong language caused many of the legislators to believe the chief executive was making 1952 campaign material. Controls and inflation are touchy subjects they know from experience. They also know they must take some kind of action that will impress the people in the home towns, but how they will get around the pressure groups, if they do, is another question.

PERSONAL INCOME— The Department of Commerce reports total personal incomes of Americans in 1951 was 251 billion dollars, 12 per cent above 1950. The department said that by the end of 1951 total individual incomes had advanced to an annual rate of 257 billion, compared with 238 billion at the end of 1950.

Except for a steady increase in farm income and in government salaries, other phases of the economy reported on showed incomes had become stabilized over the past six months.

The department reported the biggest increase was in government payrolls. They jumped by 33 per cent to an annual total of 29 billion. Farm incomes increased almost 25 per cent to a total of 17 billion. Higher farm prices accounted for most of the increase, the report said, but there was also slightly increased production.

In private industry, payrolls increased from 123½ billion in 1950 to 140 billion. Increased employment and higher wage rates were credited with the increase.

VETERAN TRAINING—Since enactment of the original GI bill, 7½ million veterans in the United States have taken advantage of its educational and vocational training provision, a house committee studying new legislation for Korean veterans reports. The bill's educational provisions—by far the most widely used and most expensive benefit—have cost the taxpayers $12,347,162,546 as of July, 1951.

Subsistence payments to veterans in school amounted to $8,645,203,670. Educational institutions received $3,276,046,930 in payment for tuition. Other payments for books and supplies (including tools for veterans in trade schools) came to $425,911,946.

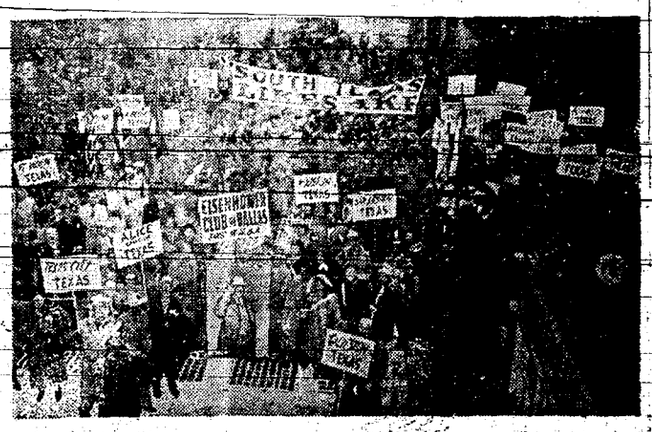

Although not begrudging the money to veterans, the committee reported "graft and waste plagued the program" and an excessive number of VA employees took bribes, gifts, unusual loans, gratuities, services and ownership in schools.

Under the new bill just introduced in congress payments of all educational benefits will be made in a lump sum directly to the veteran. Single men would get $110 a month. Married veterans would receive $150.

FOREIGN AID—Fearing congress may severely cut foreign aid funds, the United States has warned European leaders to agree quickly on plans for a European defense force, including German troops, if they want to increase their possibility of getting economic assistance.

Secretary of State Acheson and other administration leaders feel that congress may become stubborn over foreign aid funds if they can not show real progress in European unity and the incorporating of German troops in the defense plan.

The greatest difficulty appears to get French Foreign Minister Schuman and West German Chancellor Adenauer to stop their bitter feud which threatens the whole defense project. There are two main points for their disagreement: (1) France is afraid of a resurgence of aggressive German nationalism once the Germans begin to rearm; (2) West Germany wants assurance that if its troops are to participate in the defense set-up it will have a voice in N.A.T.O. decisions.

The growing movement to draft General Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nominee, got a big shot in the arm with a Madison Square Garden rally. The Texas delegation is shown on its arrival in Penn station in New York. It was estimated over 15,000 people attended the whooping-it-up rally.

FARM REVOLUTION

Big Drop in Farm Labor Is Forecast

Increasing use of chemicals on American farms is expected to displace about 3½ million farm workers by 1970, a senate labor-management relations subcommittee said in a recent report.

Conducted by Dr. Francis J. Weiss for the subcommittee, the study reported "we are at the threshold of a new era that promises plentiful food and fiber, but is also fraught with the dangers of economic and social disruption against which we have to prepare our nation no less than against the dangers of armed aggression."

Weiss' report says chemical and mechanical labor-saving devices will reduce farm workers from the 1950 level of 9,320,000 to 7,785,000—a 17 per cent drop—by 1960 and another 2 million by 1970.

Talent for Goodness

Lesson for March 2, 1952

MANY people can paint, or swim, who have no special talent for painting or swimming. So, many people are good who do not seem to have a special talent for goodness. This talent is not so common as we all wish it were. Goodness real goodness, has many limitations. Two of the commonest are goody-goody-ness and good-for-nothing-ness. Goody goody people rub normal people the wrong way. Good-for-nothing-ness is not so irritating, but it is far from satisfying. Don't we all know persons of whom it is said, "He is good, but —"? Now of a really good person you never say "He is good, but -." You say, "I only wish there were more like him."

Dr. Foreman

He Chose to Help

SUCH a man was Barnabas, one of the leaders of the first Christian church. He was called "our beloved Barnabas" not by a single congregation but by a great church council. The whole Christian family of his time thought of him as "our Barnabas," and they loved him.

He was not what you would call a specially gifted man. He was very impressive in personal appearance, for we know that among superstitious people he was taken for Jupiter or Zeus, the most powerful of the Greek gods. But he was no gifted speaker, and if he wrote anything we do not hear of it.

His one great gift, his God-given talent, was goodness. He is described as a "good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith." He is first heard of as a property-owner who sold his land and turned over the proceeds for the benefit of his fellow Christians. He was one of those who "called not anything their own" but contributed all they had.

He Could Take a Back Seat

IF I can't be corn I don't want to be shucks" is a proverb Julius Caesar might have thought of if he had been a farmer instead of a general. Once that famous man was marching through a miserable little mountain village and one of his aides said something about "this hole." The general turned on him "I would rather be first in this village," he said, "than second in Rome."

Most of us know how old J. C. felt, because most of us are not very good. But a really good person never feels that way. Your imitation-good person will take a back seat hoping soon to get his invitation to come up higher, and if he doesn't get it he will feel very peevish about the whole business.

A truly good person will be just as contented with the back seat if there is an abler man in the front seat. Now Barnabas was a good man, and he could take a back seat gracefully, could even do what is most difficult, resign from the front and slip into the rear.

He and Paul were the first missionary team in Christian history. During the time of their work together in the city of Antioch, and at the time the church commissioned them as missionaries, they are mentioned as "Barnabas and Saul." But, when they came back from that journey they were "Paul and Barnabas" and so they remained.

Paul was Barnabas' protege, his pupil, his assistant; and some men would be mightily irritated if their smart young assistants push into first place; but not Barnabas. He had that talent for goodness which includes being glad to play second fiddle to a better musician.

• • •

He Could See God

BARNABAS had another rare quality found in pure goodness: he could see good in others that was not on the surface. When Saul had just been converted everybody in Jerusalem thought he was faking; but Barnabas was the first to take him by the hand and believe in him.

When the church at Antioch, an inter-racial experiment, was worrying the old-line church at Jerusalem, Barnabas was sent up to look the situation over. Where others saw only a doubtful experiment, Barnabas "saw the grace of God and was glad."

Barnabas was the leader who recognized he could not do everything alone; he was the one who went after Paul and gave him his first real chance to become a Christian leader. Later on, when Paul wanted to fire young Mark as a quitter, Barnabas believed in him—and turned out to be right, too. It takes the truly good to see goodness!

East Jordan and Northern Michigan is experiencing the worst snow and sleet storm this week it has had in years. Railroads, telephone and telegraph wires are out of commission. The storm started Tuesday night with high east wind and since then we have been completely isolated. The Pere Marquette, Michigan Central and G. R. & I. railroads are completely blocked in Northern Michigan. The winds blew from the east nearly 48 hours carrying a heavy snow at times bordering on sleet which packed hard the railroaads tracks already banked high with snow. Thursday the wind veered to the north and with more snow which will complicate matter all the more. Just when the blockade will be lifted is problematic, depending entirely on how long it will take for the storm to blow itself out. No mails have been received in East Jordan since Tuesday night. Highways are impassible with snow knee-deep and then some. Rural mail delivery is out of the question.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

MAPLE SYRUP MEETING

A maple syrup meeting has been planned for Thursday morning, March 6 in the basement of the Boyne City Library according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. This meeting will start promptly at 10:00 a.m. P. W. Robbins, associate professor of forestry of Michigan State College, will be on hand.

Farmers who are producing or who are interested in producing maple syrup will see a model maple syrup evaporator together with all the equipment necessory for all of the steps from tapping the trees to collecting the sap. Mr. Robbins will also have with him a complete set of colored slides showing the evaporator tapping the trees, collecting and boiling the sap down to the finished maple syrup.

The Extension Service realizes that a morning meeting is not the best time for farmers to get together, however, Mr. Robbins' schedule is such that he must cover two counties in one day, therefore, the meeting for Charlevoix county will be Thursday morning, March 6 at 10:00 a.m. in the basement of the Boyne City Library.

BRUCELOSIS

A 60-cent investment in a pair of rubber gloves to wear when handling newly-born pigs and calves is cheap insurance for farmers against the danger of undulant fever, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, said today.

He says that several Michigan farmers have run up good-sized hospital and doctor bills when they were sick with undulant fever. They traced the disease to handling young pigs or calves whose mother's had brucelosis. Often it takes years to completely recover from undulant fever.

The county agent also warned that it's much safer to call your veterinarian to treat a cow which has not cleaned properly after claving instead of trying to do the work yourself. Often the reason for the trouble is that the cow has brucelosis. In this case it's better to let someone do the job who has had experience in protecting himself against the disease.

Electric big grooders are simple, inexpensive and safe, and they are effective in saving more pigs from the litter.

Budget Items

WHAT the average citizen may not entirely realize about the huge new budget facing the nation is that 83 per cent of it is for the military. This includes mutual security aid to Europe, primarily military, and care of veterans.

Thus a 17 per cent chunk of the taxpayers' money remains for civilian purposes, including the Coast Guard, which is semi-military, the FBI, Secret Service and other domestic policing agencies of government. While some further pruning may be possible in the civilian branches, especially in regard to the pork-barrel, rivers-and-harbors bill which no congressman wants to cut, nevertheless, the major opportunity for saving, if any is to be accomplished, must be from the military's 83 per cent chunk.

Yet the military have been least cooperative about even the most rudimentary principles of efficient spending.

Take merely the simple question of bidding against each other. One of the great pleas for unifying the Army and Navy was that it would save money; that the two branches of the armed services could pool their buying, not duplicate a list of thousands of items, such as towels, blankets, rope, pulleys, wrenches, all about the same whether used in the army or navy.

This, however, has not happened. Instead of working together on Army-Navy buying, there is now a third competitive service, the Air Force. It is true that much air force materiel is purchased for it by the Army, but efficient, unified buying, as done by a private business firm, just does not exist.

Keeps Them Guessing

President Truman is holding his political cards so close to his chest that not even his closest associates at the White House know his plans.

Even Charley Murphy, good-natured White House assistant, confessed to a friend the other day: "I don't know any more than the man in the moon whether Mr. Truman is going to run."

Actually, the President seems to enjoy playing a game with both his staff and visitors. At one moment Mr. Truman will put on a long face and describe in great detail the trials of being President. A frequent remark is: "Two terms will kill any man."

The next minute, the President will casually comment how he is looking forward to a grass-roots campaign in the fall, and slyly watch his guest's startled reaction. This on-again-off-again, keep-'em-guessing game was partly behind his final decision to leave his name in the New Hampshire primary. The other reason was the pleas of Democratic leaders in New Hampshire that they would lose their places on the state and national committees if he did not leave his name in.

Best guess of Mr. Truman's intimates is that he is carefully laying the groundwork for a "draft Truman" campaign after the boomlets for all the other candidates have run their course.

Moscow Feud

Ambassador Alan Kirk, retiring as ambassador to Moscow, has handed in a sensational farewell report that a deadly feud has broken out in the Politburo over who is to succeed Prime Minister Stalin.

Kirk reports that Molotov and Malenkov, the Soviet production boss, are openly vying for power and lining up support within the Politburo for themselves.

Stalin is reported enjoying the spectacle and so far has made no move to intervene or designate his successor. Winner of this grim struggle undoubtedly will be the man who gets the support of Marshal Beria, head of Russia's secret police. As yet, Beria has stayed out of the fight.

Communist Burma

The American delegation to the U.N., alarmed at the threat of Communist attack on Burma, has appealed secretly to the jittery Burmese government to have it ask the United Nations to send a watchdog commission to Burma immediately in order to guard against invasion. Some U.S. delegates, however, think it's already too late and that, by midsummer, Burma will be another Russian satellite.

Spies in Soviet

The Russians are having Joe McCarthy scares too. The Kremlin is so alarmed over military information leaking to us that it has banned German servants from working for Russians in East Germany, has built high fences around its airfields, has added new restrictions on American military attaches behind the Iron Curtain, has even cut off nonclassified technical magazines from western sources. They're almost as scared as we are.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

A showdown is coming soon on the legislative solution of Republican Leaders at Lansing for the state's financial dilemma.

Here is the story in a nutshell.

Governor G. Mennen Williams advocates a corporation privilege tax on corporation profits rather than "new taxes upon the things they (the voters) must buy any use in their daily lives." By diverting a share of corporation profits to the state treasury, the governor holds up a magical and almost painless solution to the deepening treasury deficit. Revenues fall short around $20 millions annually of covering financial needs.

A Citizens' Tax Study Committee, headed by Alan L. Gornick of the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, would raise a total of $66.7 millions by adjustment of present taxes. The committee program has much itself as a nation-wide survey of state governments recently showed that Governor Williams, in advocating the corporation profits tax, was the only Governor in the country to propose new taxes in1952.

The Republican-inspired legislative program to alleviate the financial crisis has incurred opposition of local goverments. The program calls for recapturing of some state funds now being diverted to local government units. For example, the State Senate reversed itself last week when it approved a house bill cutting local government's share of liquor license fees from 85 to 50 percent. Reconsideration by State Senate reversed itself last week when it approved a house bill cutting local government's share of liquor license fees from 85 to 50 percent. Reconsideration by three Republican senators, who previously had voted against such reduction of state aid, turned the tide. The bills would put an additional fund now beset by red ink.

Another bill in the Republican program, obviously designed to meet the challenge of the governor, would eliminate the 3 percent sales tax on liquor sales and would substitute a new specific tax of 3 percent whereby $3,500,000 would be added to the state tax fund. Since both municipalities and public schools benefit now from sales tax rebates, the recapturing of revenue in this fashion is bound to incur opposition from local goverment so effected

Another proposal by Senator Elmer R. Porter would divert $3 million from the gas and weight tax revenues to help support the State Police highway patrol. Since municipalities share in gas and weight tax revenues, such recapturing also is bound to be upopular in some quarters

It is conceded that in a period of rising inflation whereby prices constantly spiral upward there is a consequent need for additional revenues if present public services are to be maintained adequately. Sound evidence exists that the 1951 inflation, benefitting union organized workers primarily, left a large section of the citizens adversely affected by rising prices which they were unable to write off through higher incomes. The predicament is both collective in governments and individuals in taxpayers

If Republican leaders can hold the line by inducing legislators to favor recapture of present state aid now going to local governments, a solution could be found to the treasury defict and an answer could be thus provided to the challenge by the governor for a tax on corporation profits. However, this is asking for quite a lot.

Michigan corporations have not been such bad employers despite the proverbial onus of "big business."

It is significant that Michigan, recognized nationally as the nation's leading industrial state in 1950, paid more wages to production workers in average annual earnings that any other state in the nation. In no other state are factory payrolls as important to the economy of an area. Michigan factory workers in 1950 received an average earning of $3,660 for a total of $3.1 billions.

How does Michigan compare with Ohio? Ohio production workers received $32,60 average in 1950. Thus Michigan leads Ohio by 11.2 percent and exceeded the national average by 24.7 percent.

As compared with factory earnings of workers in North Carolina, Michigan was 70 percent higher.

The Detroit Board of Commerce recently pointd out that manufacturing was Michigan's greatest resource and that through it, 41 percent of the people obtained their livihood.

It was the conclusion of the Citizen Tax Study Committee that a state levy on corporation profits would merely shift additional cost to the consumer in the form ultimately of higher prices. We quote: "In small business as well as big business it is necessary to adjust pricing to tax cost as well as labor and material. In the long run all taxes are borne by the ultimate consumer as part of the cost of goods and services he buys."

Business leaders conclude that a state levy on corporation profits might be the act of killing the goose to get the golden egg. Michigan's distinction of record high wages adds emphasis to this sound logic.

A possible solution to the financing of tuberculosis sanitoriums from state aid has come up in the Legislature. Rep. Robert E. Faulkner, Coloma Republican, introduced a bill asking a $750,000 grant to finance a hospital in Benton Harbor, on a 50-50 basis, whereby Berrien county would match state funds. If local governments elsewhere offered to match state funds, reconsideration of the entire construction program might be ordered.

A slim peach crop in 1952 has been predicted for Michigan. A drop of 25 percent below the 10-year normal was attributed to the winter kill of a year ago.

Control of collegiate television by law in Michigan, proposing to require MSC and U.ofM. to televise sports programs has been given little support in the present session of the legislature. The legislators defeated a bill to require the colleges to make games available throughout the state, while Attorney General Frank G. Millard has ruled favorable to the colleges running their own affairs as constitutional bodies.

Consumer's Power Co. Improvement Projects in Northwest Division

Consumers Power Company and its subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage Company, will spend more than $4,000,000 on construction and improvement projects in the Northwest Division this year, Division Manager, Bob D. Hilty announced at division headquarters in Traverse City.

Mr. Hilty said that the Storage Company stores natural gas in underground fields in Missaukee and Osceola counties for sale to Consumers Power, which distributes gas to more than 300,000 customers in Southern Michigan. Storage and compressor facilities will be extended and improved this year. Gas for storage is purchased from transcontinental pipelines which recieve their supply from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Consumers' electric projects include extensive improvement of the power supply and electric distribution systems in the division Mr. Hilty said. The power supply system consists of major substations and high voltage transmission lines. The electric distribution system embraces substations and lower voltage lines.

Substations that will be improved in order to increase their capacity and strengthen service in the areas they serve include those at Traverse City, Gaylord, Mullet Lake, Indian River, Glen Lake, Harbor Springs, Boyne City, Arcadia, Alden, Cheboygan, and Mackinaw City.

Major transmission line projects include the continued construction of 26 miles of 140,000 volt transmission line from the Company's Hodenpyl Dam to Traverse City, a project which has already started and which will result in a vastly improved power supply for the entire Northwest Division.

Among major distribution line projects are construction of 17 miles of 44,000 volt line from Rondo north to Mullet Lake; 18 miles of 44,000 volt line from Traverse City to Glen Lake via Suttons Bay; 9½ miles of 44,000 volt line from Hodenpyl Dam to Arcadia. All of these lines will enable the Company to provide area with increased power supplies from Consumers' interconcented system of steam and hydro-lectric generating plants.

Mr. Hilty said the Company also plans to improve the distribution voltages to customers in Roscommon, Mackinaw City and Boyne City, and to improve the treet lighting systems at Pellston, Alanson, Oden, Vanderbilt, Indian River, Kaleva, Alba, Kalkaska, Suttons Bay, Mackinaw City and Elk Rapids.

He estimated that Consumers will add more than 1,800 new electric customers in the Northwest Division this year.

Mr. Hilty said the division program is part of Consumers' record $53,000,000 1952 expansion and improvement project in its Outstate Michigan service area. The Company supplies service in 52 of the 68 counties of the Lower Peninsula. The $53,000,000 is exclusive of more than $3,000,000 to be expended for construction by Michigan Gas Storage.

SPRING HOUSECLEANING

Snowdrops and pussywillows may be the poetic harbingers of spring, but for most homemakers this is primarily the season for that annual upheaval—spring housecleaning.

If home management specialists at Michigan State College had their way, there would be no such thing as a general housecleaning at certain times of the year. Dorothy M. Greey of the home management department suggests housekeeping should be spread over the entire year since modern equipment enables women to keep up with their work from day to day.

Spring is a logical time, Miss Greey agrees, to make changes. Put way the winter clothes and clean the closets, take down heavy draperies, clean the fireplace and make way for the ease of summer living. But don't bother with tugging the rugs out of doors for the usual shakedown, it is too hard on the fabric. Fifteen minutes a week per rug will keep them amply clean. For the rug pads use straight suction cleaning several times a year. If your electric sweeper is an agitator type, you can get straight suction by disconnecting the band, Miss Greey said.

Another woman-killer is the mattress beating process that grandmother thought essential. Use vacuum attachments on the mattress surface and forget the beating that is again, too hard on the fabric. A mattress cover that fits and is easily put on will be a boon in keeping the mattress clean.

As for bed springs, Miss Greey suggests blowing the dirt off with an attachment if your vacuum does not make contact.

A writer decided to submit his material to company magazines or so-called "house organs." He clled one large firm in Cincinnati and inquired, "Could you please tell me if your firm has a house organ?"

"Oh, no," the telephone operator answered, "we don't even have a piano!"

Buy More Chicks Economist Advises

Although it might not look logical to farmers now who are looking at their egg checks, Henry Larzelere, poultry economist at Michigan State College, says that it should pay Michigan farmers to buy more baby chicks than they had planned on this year.

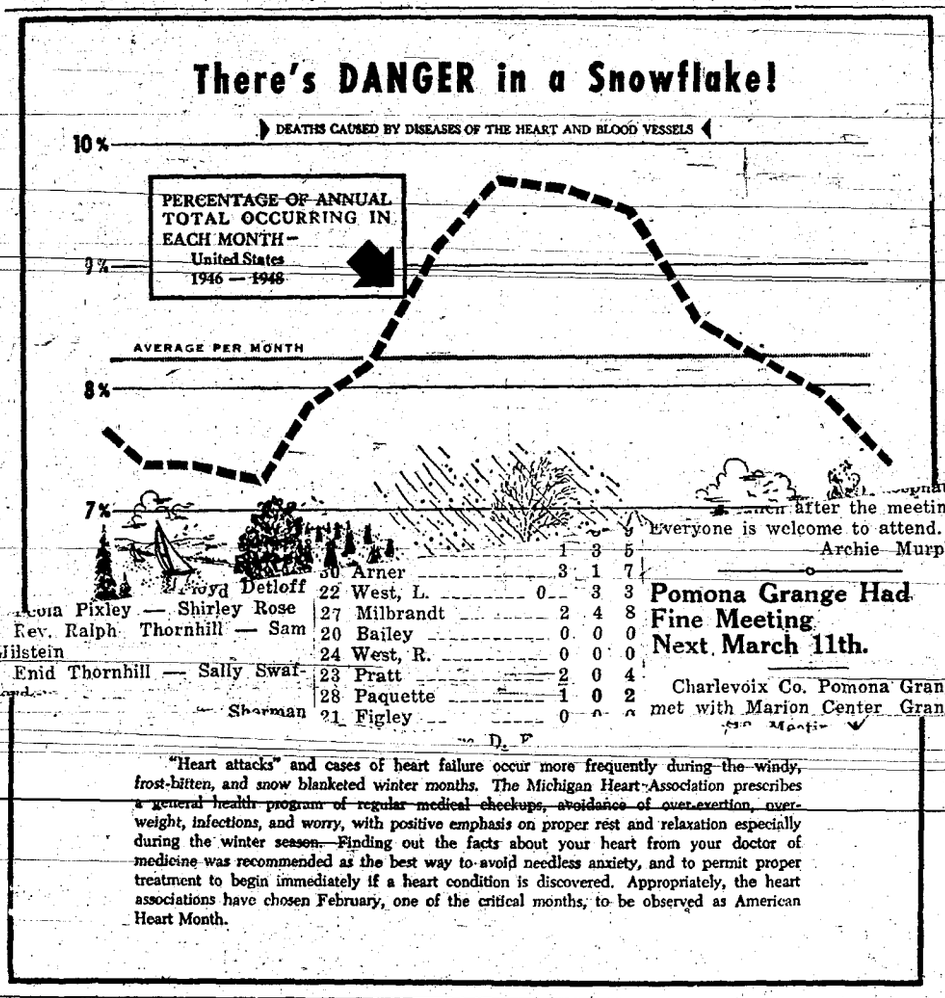

Larzelere explains that economists have been predicting for the past several months that unfavorable egg prices would discourage farmers about raising chicks this year. The crop report now intend to buy 10 percent fewer chicks than a year ago. mean fewer pullets next fall, fewer eggs and higher prices.

By having a good pullet flock coming into production next fall, farmers will be able to take advantage of the good fall prices. And prices in the winter and spring of 1953 will be higher than this year.

In any case, start the chicks as early as possible for greatest profits, Larzeller advises.

Tracks of dogs, foxes, coyotes and wolves are quite similar – in appearance.

He: "If you make another mistake in grammar, I'm going to kiss you."
She: "You ain't neither."

"Heart attacks" and cases of heart failure occur more frequently during the windy, frost-bitten, and snow blanketed winter months. The Michigan Heart Association prescribes a general health program of regular medical checkups, avoidance of over exertion, overweight, infections, and worry, with positive emphasis on proper rest and relaxation especially during the winter season. Finding out the facts about your heart from your doctor of medicine was recommended as the best way to avoid needless anxiety, and to permit proper treatment to begin immediately if a heart condition is discovered. Appropriately, the heart associations have chosen February, one of the critical months, to be observed as American Heart Month.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Booster feeding through plant leaves shows promise

Many plants and trees absorb food through their leaves. This discovery opens up possibilities of larger, faster-growing crops by applying additional fertilizer as a spray. Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station is studying ways of making leaf feeding practical to the average grower. Among plants which respond readily to nutrition through their leaves are tomato, celery and corn, as well as apple trees. Best results have been obtained by spraying relatively low concentrations of plant food during the spring and early summer. As more information is obtained, it will be available to you by calling, writing or visiting your County Agricultural Agent.

New life for old grasshoppers

To you, a grasshopper can cause damage. But, to your telephone service, a "grasshopper" prevents damage. For this is the name of a tiny fuse, so called because it looks like a grasshopper. If there's too much current, the fuse blows and saves other equipment from damage. A new "grasshopper" costs 9 cents. After it has blown, we have it repaired for 5 cents, saving 4 cents over buying a new fuse. On the millions of grasshopper fuses we use, that's a real saving . . . and another way telephone efficiency helps keep down the cost of your service.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

A new man in our midst this week is Pvt Jean Edward Drapeau. Ed's new address is: Sqd 37 16, Flt 270, Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Texas. I notice that Ed is on the same base as Walter Moblo. Walt is in Sqd 3719, Flt 2767. Can you fellows find each other?

Carl Young writes from St Jean D'Angley, France as follows. "I guess that I should be penalized for not writing in before now, but I have been getting used to married life and it is somewhat a change. I was promoted to Sgt on December 15th as a birthday and Christmas present and the welcomed bucks come in handy when the bills come around. I have a wonderful cook now though and she can make army cooking look pretty sick. I hope the mess Sgt doesn't hear about this though, or he may cut off my 10 and 3 o'clock coffee break. If he does, I will have the wife fill up a thermos bottle in the morning.

'I guess that Hershel is having worse luck with house-keeping than I am. Last I heard from him he was still looking for a home for Ruth and the little one.

'The paper has been getting here swell, Jake, and I would like to thank the Community Service Club for such speedy delivery, just 4 days this week. I don't know where brother Glen is at now but if you have his present stateside address will you post it for my information? According to last weeks paper an East Jordan boy is somewhere in my area here. Could you clarify that for me Jake? I filed the paper away in file 13 and missed copying the address. I think that his last name is Crandall, somewhere in APO 21 here. You can tell Claude Crandall that he sounds like he wants to reenlist. As a recruiting NCO I can fix him up for 6 if he wants. He can take my place after I get out. Tell Bernard Pearce he sure has got this mans army knocked — —. I have yet to hear words like that from any men in this area.

'I expect to be in East Jordan sometime in late July or early August this year and will be sure to stop in, Jake. The old town will probably look a lot different since leaving in 46 and only being back once for a week end in the fall of 48 prior to coming in the army."

To answer your questions, Carl, brother Glen (to the best of my knowledge) is with the 707th Ord M Co, APO 7, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. That would indicate that he is somewhere in Japan or Korea. At least I have had no change of address indicating different and no papers have been returned. The other man you inquired about is Pfc Gerald L. Crandall, who now has a new address as follows: 521 Engr Port Cont Det, APO 21, c/o PM, New York, N.Y. He gives his location as Rochefort, France. Is that near you?

Gerald sent in the following doleful ditty which was evidently composed by some GI overseas.

MAIL CALL — Chow is over and we rush down the hall, The clerk has just yelled, it's time for mail call; We gather around with prayers and hops, That our name is written on an envelope; All is quiet, and a name rings out, And the glad soldier answers with a hearty shout; Jones, Miller, Johnsen, they all fall in line, Smiling as they read, the family is fine; The suspense is killing, as the pile gets low, Is there a letter for me, the answer is no; You turn around, and make a heartbroken flight, Back to your room you begin to write; Dear Mother, Dear Sister, Dear Brother, Dear Wife, I have never been so miserable, in all my life; Perhaps one of these days, a dream will come true, Maybe you'll drop me a line or two; But despite this handicap, whatever it's worth, We'll do a good job, and bring peace on earth. (By Pfc John W. Crooms, 464th QM Service Co).

Guess who just up and went and did it. Johnny Pawneshing — of all people. I just got a note from Johnny this week and he informs me that it is now Pvt and Mrs. Guess you did pull a sneaker on us, didn't you. Well, here's wishing you loads of luck and we all hope that all your troubles will be little ones. Johnny tied the knot on January 9th and is still with the 1362 ASU at Fort Totten, New York.

I've really been having my troubles with Lawrence Elsworth's address. He wrote me this last week and corrected me and informed me that he was at Mather AFB (not Walker AFB as I had it last week.), Sacramento, California. He is still with the 3535 Maint Sqd and his new job is Airplane Engine Mecanic on B25 and T29's. Here's luck to you Lawrence.

Did you ever hear of newspapers having a casualty? Well we had one in the batch of Air Mail papers we sent out on February 8th to the overseas men. Al Nelson sent an empty Air Mail envelope home to his wife with the inquiry as to what was supposed to have been in it. The envelope had evidently been torn open and the paper lost out. Thanks for letting us know about that, All, we're going to use a little scotch tape on the next ones and see if we can fasten the paper to the envelope. Your wife tells me you're seeing plenty of action right up on the front lines. Keep your head down and don't get your neck clipped off. That neck is mighty precious to that wife of yours.

Here's a word from Lawrence Wright. He left England on Feb. 18th for the States and should be here in EJ around the 1st of March.

Got another letter from Claude Crandall this last week in which he thanked me for putting his [illegible] on the 1st Cavalry. He has views on [illegible] hasn't changed his mind a bit and doesn't think he will, either. Claude is out of the blood letting business and is now on duty in a ward — I think he said a "nut" ward. He says he probably will run into some more soldiers from Michigan. Say, Claude, now take it a little easy there.

Don Trojanek and Raymond Romback are leaving this week for the good old army. Wonder who's next. Maybe even me, Huh?

So Long,
"Jake" Snyder

Progress Reported in Peace Talks; Republican Accepts Clean-Up Job

PEACE TALKS—After weeks of stalemate and pessimism, an unexpected feeling of optimism surrounded the Korean peace talks. There were reports of a possible early settlement. However, the hard core of disagreement on fundamental issues which have delayed an armistice have been shoved aside only temporarily and must be settled eventually.

On three issues the Communists and Allies have reached agreement: (1) Red Cross teams from Allied countries will work jointly with national Red Cross representatives from Red China and Red Korea in handling the prisoner exchange; (2) The Communist clarified their stand on paroles. The oath would require only that prisoners restrain from participation in the Korean War, instead of all "acts of war"; and (3) The Communists agreed to return U.N. military prisoners— about 11,500 men—within 30 days after an armistice.

There was one development on the world scene, however, that could hurt future peace talks. Jacob A. Malik, Soviet representative in the United Nations general assembly, in a final attempt to frighten U.N. members into agreeing to immediate discussion of the Korean question in the assembly, charged that the Anglo-American block is not only preparing a third world war, but "this world war has in fact begun."

Why should Malik make such a statement if agreement in Korea is near? A number of observers are wondering if the Chinese have finally determined to have peace in Korea, even over the objection of their Moscow masters? And, is it an indication of the much rumored split between Russia and China?

The diplomats may speculate and express their hopes, but the people in the home towns of America remain skeptical about the whole thing. In their minds there are too many unanswered questions. They are inclined to believe there will be peace when the documents are signed, the prisoners exchanged, and their sons are returned home.

TRUMAN HEADLINES—President Truman caused two recent headlines in newspapers across the nation that raised considerable speculation in the home towns of the nation. The first was his announcement that he would not take part in the New Hampshire primary and calling the present system of presidential preference primaries in the states so much "eyewash". The second was his appointment of Newbold Morris, a Republican, to head his long-heralded cleanup against government corruption.

As for his first statement, President Truman was correct to a certain extent. As far as he is concerned personally the state primary system is "eyewash". A president can usually get the nomination before the actual balloting begins simply by announcing he will take it. This seems to be the case with President Truman. However, for the party out of power, state primaries may accurately define the trend of thinking in the home towns and bring added strength to the winning candidate.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN

The President's statement was further highlighted by the fact that a few days later he completely reversed himself and ordered his name not be taken from the primary ballot. In a letter to the New Hampshire secretary of state, Truman explained he had been urged by the Democratic party to leave his name on the ballot. The letter was also something of an apology to New Hampshire voters who party officials felt might be offended by Truman's "eyewash" statement.

As for the second headlines, home towners who have become skeptical about any cleanup of Washington corruption, where asking themselves just what is the true significance of the appointment of Morris, highly respected lawyer and a self-styled [illegible] job that's on [illegible] and Abraham Lincoln Republican, to the [illegible] has been refused several times.

Generally, the reaction was mixed, depending on which side of the political fence the observer was on. Republicans, voicing suspicion, said they hoped it was not a plant on the part of the administration to use Morris as a window dressing while sabotaging his efforts to clean house. Democrats praised the appointment, saying his selection should be reassuring to the people.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN—The State department has issued a report of conditions behind the Iron Curtain that will be of interest to every home towner who has wondered just how the "little people" in Soviet controlled territory feel. The information was accumulated from interviews with refugees and has been set out in six points:

(1) Most of the refugees disliked Stalin and other Soviet leaders and most of them denounced the Communist chiefs "in terms of unmeasured abuse".

(2) They appeared to believe that war between Russia and the United States "is almost inevitable" and could be prevented only if the men in the Kremlin feel it would be suicidal for them.

(3) The sorest nationality problem in the Soviet is anti-Semitism.

(4) The ultimate goal of world domination held by the Kremlin is considered to be unchanged. But the means by which the Red command moves toward that goal is highly flexible and involves "secrecy, deception and terror as basic ingredients."

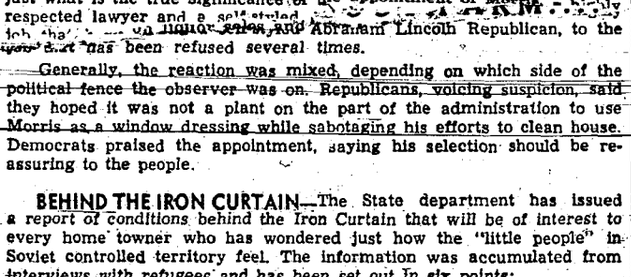

(5) The standard of living in the Soviet Union is so low as to arouse discontent and is responsible for much crime and other social problems.

(6) Although dissatisfaction with the present regime exists, a serious problem would exist in Russia if the Communist regime were to collapse or be overthrown. It would be necessary for the Russiah people to undergo a process of re-education.

BRITAIN—Great Britain, beset by economic woes and the breaking down of relations with many former subjects in far corners of the Empire, has entered a period of mourning for King George VI who died February 6.

Only a few days before his death, King George made his first public appearance after a long and serious illness, to wave bon voyage to the plane that was to carry Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, on their commonwealth tour.

King George VI was one of Great Britain's most beloved monarchs. And it was during his reign that the British Empire struggled through its greatest crisis—World War II and the years of economic strain that followed. Elizabeth now becomes Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh her Prince Consort. Their son, Prince Charles, is heir apparent.

Egyptian rioters are shown after they surrendered to British troops in the Suez canal zone. During the past few weeks all has been calm in Egypt as the new Premier conducts talks with the British in an attempt to settle the Suez and Anglo-Egyptian Sudan problems.

THE PUBLIC DEBT

Each Individual's Share Is $1,829

As congress battles over a new budget, the public's debt nears an all-time record with federal, state and local governments together owing a total of 282.3 billion dollars. Of this sum, 255.2 billion was federal, 6.4 billion state, 20.7 billion local.

Since 1946, when the public debt was 285.3 billion, state and local debt has climbed 70 per cent, it was estimated.

Figuring the public debt across the nation on a per capita basis, every man, woman and child is in the red $1,829, due to the combined indebtedness of federal, state and local governments. Each American "owes" $1,653 because of Uncle Sam's debts, $41 for state indebtedness and $134 due to the borrowing of local governments.
